METAL CRAFT

BRASS, IRON STEEL AND THE
PRECISION TO BECOME QUALITY

When you want to produce a chandelier on the highest level of quality, Bakalowits is focusing on strong and supportive materials like steel or stainless steel to build up the inner frame of each chandelier design. With this material choice it is made sure that any chandelier leaving the company will be in existence even many years after completion.

When it comes to bring elegance and beauty to this inner frame, Bakalowits is working with brass. This material on the contrary is a very forgiving one that lets you easlier form under fire and cast intosand. Additionally its surface is beautiful in its natural appearance but when treated by our craftsmen/ women it can be polished onto such a high level that its surface look matches that of gold.

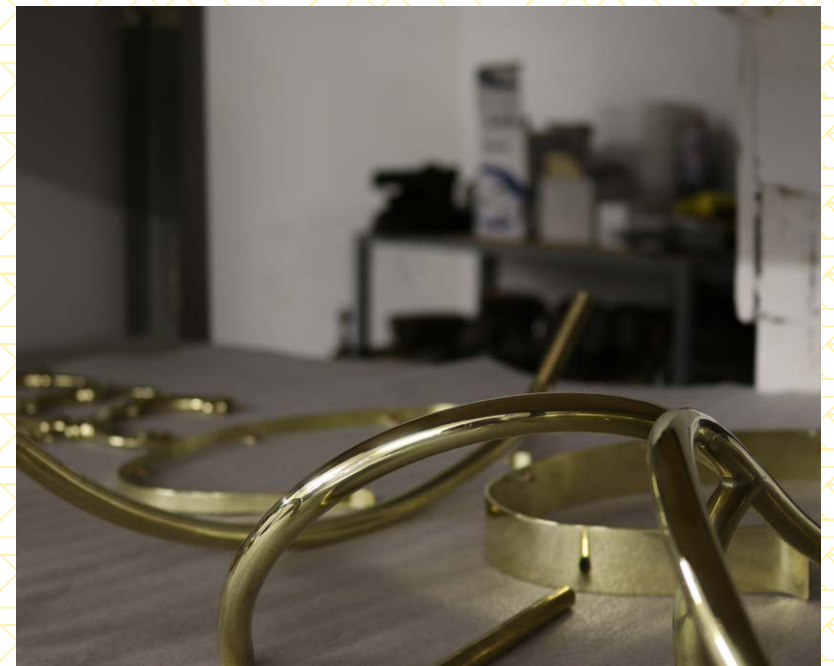

SURFACE AND FINISHES

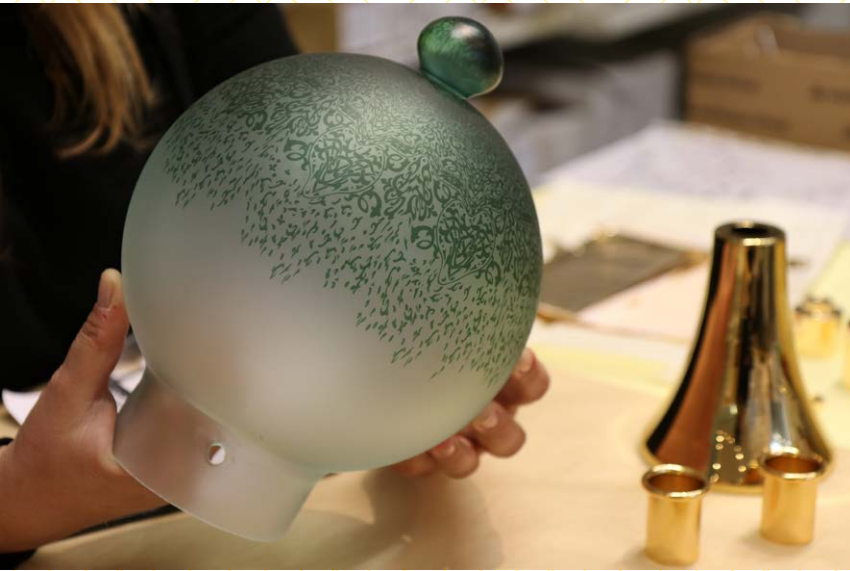

SANDING, POLISHING,
LAQUERING,
GALVANIZING, LEAF
GILDING, etc...

With Bakalowits all the surfaces of your chandelier or lighting object can be designed and processed in any desired surface finish you would like to have for your project.

Whether it is gold, silver, bronze, hand leaf gold-plated or silver-plated, polished, with patina or any color of the color palette.

You name it we make it.

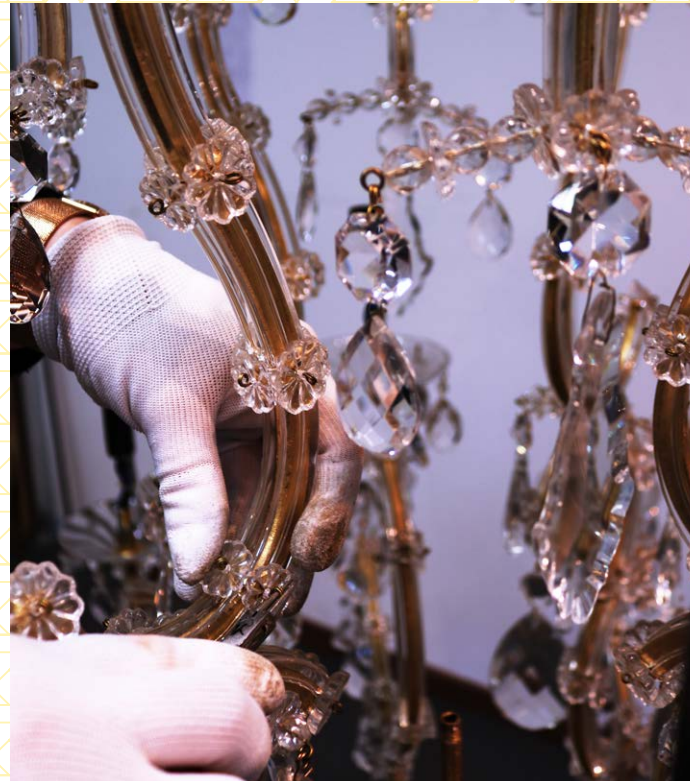

GLASS AND CRYSTAL

AND THE EYE
TO PERFECTION

Bakalowits is famous for its glass quality and the workmanship of it on each chandelier.

Being situated in Austria is one of the key reasons for this reputation. Having two big global glass brands here in this country (Swarovski and Schoeler) who are constantly delivering top quality glass does also contribute to our status as the company to get to when you just want the best of the best.

But what would be top quality glass without having craftsmen/women who mount the glass to its frame. Bakalowits is proud to have above average employees with a high level of know how and understanding to refine top quality Austrian glass to the next level of perfection - Pieces of Art.

4 HISTORY OF BAKALOWITS

The Bakalowits Company was founded in Vienna, Austria in 1845 by Elias Bakalowits. After his son Ludwig joined the company, E. Bakalowits & Sons grew and became one of the leading crystal chandelier manufacturers in the Austro-Hungarian Empire. In 1892 Ludwig Bakalowits received the order to manufacture the chandeliers for the Neue Hofburg Palace in Vienna for Emperor Franz Joseph I and was appointed Imperial and Royal Purveyor to the Court. Through this prestigious project the company's reputation for excellence grew outside Europe, and by 1885 the company was exporting its products to America and Asia. -

BAKALOWITS®

In 1900, Bakalowits & Sons displayed their crystal chandeliers at the World Exposition in Paris. Other exhibitions in St. Petersburg, London, Geneva and Turin followed and attracted more clients from around the world.

In 1928, the company obtained patents for its crystal chandeliers and unique manufacturing processes due to the increased demand of chandeliers and lighting features produced by Bakalowits.

In 1955 Bakalowits was entrusted with the manufacture of new lighting fixtures for some of the Viennese buildings that had suffered damage during the Second World War. These included the Parliament, the State Opera House, the National Theatre, City Hall, St. Stephan's Cathedral, and others. -

Recognizing the increasing demand for luxury products in Asia and the Middle East in the 1960's, Bakalowits extended its business to those regions through close cooperation with international architects and designers. It did so while continuing its growth in Europe, where Bakalowits manufactured the largest chandelier ever built for the Parliament in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Since then, the company has continued to grow and has remained family owned and managed under the direction of CEO Prof. Friedhelm Bakalowits. ●
